

The Idea for this app is a concept-map based app but for organizing class curriculum, unit plans, and lesson plans.

1. There are many apps in the app store that are set up as a Concept Map app and there are other apps set up for lesson plans but I couldn't find any apps that attempted to bridge the two ideas together.
2. The general audience for this app would be teachers, curriculum coaches and possibly even content creators like text book writers.
3. The apps main features would be the linking of different concepts on different concept maps. Like having tags but the tag would jump you to a specific location or concept map one level down. It will require access to the internet because some additional features would be to link to documents from a cloud drive like Google Drive or iCloud Drive.
4. Price would be $4.99
